"Vulnerable, gut-wrenching, and honest—a definite must-read!"
— Dr. Rosa Campos-Brito, Latin American Culture Specialist.

"God's In A Box On My Dresser is powerfully vulnerable and poignantly fresh."
— Susie Dickey, Energy Leadership Master Practitioner, Founder, The Soul SandBox

"A relatable story for our times. Luciana invites a new perspective on God that doesn't condemn religion, but rather reminds us of the importance of a personal and vital relationship with the eternal."
— Sean Chiddy, Psychotherapist and Integration Coach.

"God's in a Box On My Dresser is not a book just to be read, it is a book to be studied so you can build up the courage to finally free yourself from trauma and shame. This book will transform your life!"
— Paula Melo, CPC, CIMA®, CFP®, Author, Speaker & Career & Life Strategist

"Unique and captivating; Luciana skillfully crafts memories and experiences with enchanting imagery and literary form as she invites readers on her healing journey."
— Elizabeth Mann, MSW, LICSW

"Readers will feel empowered on their own path to healing, even when it feels tough, dark and unbearable."
— Serena Wu, JD, Founding Partner, Radicle Law, LLP

In God's In A Box On My Dresser: An Inquiry Into The Human Capacity To Thrive, author Dr. Luciana Passeri takes the reader to an island in the Peruvian Amazon jungle where plant medicine unlocks the secrets to the human capacity to thrive. She finds healing, hope, and a transformed relationship with God while living thirty days on the small island where she ingested Aychuasca, an ancient plant medicine that was administered by Shipibo Shamans. The snakes, caiman, a tarantula, and other jungle critters become some of her teachers as she delves into and heals memories.

In God's In A Box On My Dresser: An Inquiry Into The Human Capacity To Thrive, you will discover a roadmap to clock your disempowering narratives, transform them, and experience the freedom to thrive—without the medicine or Shamans, but with the power of Passeri's own experience and healing words.
